Expanko Expands CaraGreen's Territory, Welcoming New Florida Agent

February 26, 2019— Expanko Resilient Flooring, a brand of Stonhard, is pleased to welcome Kristine Hart of CaraGreen Healthy Building Materials as a new agent to its expanding network. Dozens of agents throughout the U.S. support Expanko's distinct cork and rubber lines of flooring. CaraGreen recently began offering Expanko products in the North and South Carolina markets. With the addition Kristine Hart to the Expanko network, the resilient flooring products will now be available in Florida through CaraGreen.

"Kristine brings with her extensive experience calling on the A & D market and truly understands green building materials. She will be an asset to Expanko as she offers product recommendations and helps her customers select cork and rubber flooring for their projects," says Sally Reis, General Manager of Expanko.

With a background in interior design, Kristine says she is able to anticipate many of the issues her clients may experience during a project. "Florida is an exciting territory where Expanko's cork and rubber products are going to be an excellent resource for commercial projects from fitness centers to prestigious locations, and Expanko is perfectly aligned with CaraGreen's offerings since we focus on sustainable products," says Kristine.

CaraGreen is a provider for AIA and has several accredited U.S. Green Building Council professionals on staff. In addition to following LEED standards, they are following the latest trends and have a WELL professional on staff. CaraGreen is highly involved in educating the architectural and design community by providing technical knowledge through lunch and learns and holding continuing education for-credit courses each year. The CaraGreen Build Green Live Green podcast helps listeners find ways to incorporate sustainable materials into their lives.
